SUMMARY:

I have reached for the heights of management in the fast-paced world of business and elevated the math skills of middle school children as principal of a small private school. Most recently, I produced content as a freelance writer. I renewed my studies after anticipating the need for website development skills and am excited to be part of the evolving field of user experience design and interface development.

EXPERIENCE:

Online Profile Reviewer Udacity: Remote Jun 2015 - Current

I am one of the first profile reviewers with Udacity. I review documents based on a rubric and offer actionable and helpful feedback to students.

Web Developer Freelancer: Janesville, WI May 2015 - Current

As a front-end developer I write object-oriented programming in JavaScript, and use HTML, CSS, jQuery and Bootstrap to design responsive websites that provide positive user experiences. Projects include a single page application using Google Maps and FourSquare APIs, and an optimized website using PageSpeed Insights.

Exec Content Director Urban Gaming Elite: Milwaukee, WI Aug 2014 – Jun 2015

I worked closely with the founder to build a community of inclusive gamers in the Midwest region who were bound by their love for community and creativity. I edited and created images with Photoshop, used MS Office to create Word and Excel documents and shared files with freelancers on Google Drive. I co-managed our social media accounts and networked with regional organizers for partnership opportunities.
